THE GREAT GAME OF POLITICS

By FRANK R. KENT

Mrs. R. And The Governor
Washington, March 21.
AS IS so often the case in an "off year" the most important election in the country this fall will be that in New York State, where both a governor and a senator are to be chosen. At the moment, the two most interesting figures in the New York political picture are Gov. Thomas Dewey and Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt. Eight or ten months ago the opinion of political observers was almost unanimous that Governor Dewey could not be re-elected this fall. Of course, if he were defeated his chances of being re-nominated for President by the Republicans in 1948 would disappear. It is significant that since the first of the year this opinion has changed.

SO FAR from feeling now that Governor Dewey could not be re-elected, the best view is that the chances favor him. Partly, this is due to the undeniable Republican trend; partly to the fact that the Democratic combination, which until 1942 had been unbeatable, is not quite as tight as it was; partly to the fact that even his opponents admit Governor Dewey is making an exceedingly competent Governor. Naturally, a re-elected Dewey, with his big State delegation solidly with him, becomes again a formidable contender for the 1948 presidential nomination. That this is Mr. Dewey's idea and desire can be accepted.

AS TO Mrs. Roosevelt, the plan is to "persuade" her to be a candidate for the Senate. Those who know Mrs. Roosevelt regard persuading her to run as one of the easiest of tasks. Of course, the notion of running Mrs. Roosevelt is predicated on the assumption that Senator James Meade, whose term expires this year, will become a candidate for Governor instead of seeking to return to the Senate. This seems likely enough. For, while a number of names have been suggested for the gubernatorial nomination, Senator Meade is generally regarded as the strongest available man.

AS WAS to have been expected, the movement for Mrs. Roosevelt comes from the radical groups, such as the American Labor party, and from the practical politicians. The primary reason for the support of these is belief that Mrs. Roosevelt could win in a year when the trend is away from the Democrats—and that her candidacy would help the State ticket. In addition to the regular party vote, she would get, it is contended, more solidly than any other Democrat the racial and radical coalition which has been marching under the Democratic label since 1936 and with which Mr. Roosevelt carried New York three times.

ESPECIALLY is this true of the Negro vote. More than any other individual, Mrs. Roosevelt was responsible for the extraordinary political feat in 1936, when the Democrats took over almost entirely the Negro vote in ten pivotal States.

SEARCH IN SNOW FOR VICTIMS OF TRANSPORT CRASH

In a snow-packed canyon of the Sierra Nevada, out of Truckee, Cal., one member of a searching party comes upon the wreckage of the C-47 transport plane which exploded in mid-air and crashed against a mountain wall. Heavy snows and rains hindered the efforts of rescuers, seeking the bodies of three—out of 26 aboard—which have not yet been recovered. (International)

Cpl. Woodhouse Said To Be Killed in Plane Crash

YARDLEY, Mar. 21.—Cpl. William Thomas Woodhouse, Jr., the 18-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Woodhouse, Silver Lake Terrace, is said to be one of the 23 army and navy personnel who met death when a C-47 transport plane exploded in mid-air and crashed on a mountain side in California yesterday.

Woodhouse is listed as a passenger of the plane which crashed in the Sierra Nevada range, seven miles from Truckee. It has been established that he boarded the plane, and the family here is awaiting further word.

Early reports were that 23 bodies, some buried in several feet of snow, have been recovered. Crews of workmen continue their search for additional bodies and pieces of the wreckage.

Early indications were that a wing, which has not been found, blew off before the crash. At the scene, snow was piled in 12-foot drifts. Workers toiled through the night by campfire and flashlight, hunting for bodies. Three bodies are believed to be in the control room.

Cpl. Woodhouse, who had entered the service in November, was en route home for 15 days' furlough. He had been assigned to ordnance and was awaiting orders to go to China. He was a graduate of Sanford Preparatory School of Wilmington, Del. He had formerly worked at the Woodhouse Chain Works, of which his father is president.

"I had eight pints of blood plasma immediately after I was wounded," he continued as he told of being taken aboard the hospital ship, U. S. S. "Comfort" anchored off Okinawa. "That was a hazardous place for anybody, but there as soon as the doctors and nurses finished tending my wounds I found a Red Cross worker—a woman approximately 40 years old ready to minister to me. She didn't have to be there. It was a ghastly place, but she had volunteered. And there she stayed at her post, boosting our morale, writing our letters, and doing countless things for us as the 'Japs' shelled us for 15 days, and as kamikaze planes dived at us. She started me on the road to recovery mentally, for my morale was pretty low. Life had never been too easy for me and my family when I had two legs. But the Red Cross was there, and the Red Cross has been

FRUIT GROWERS SPRAY THEIR TREES

Buds Forced by The Warm Weather May Be Killed If Frost Occurs

NEAR SLEEPY STAGE

Making his rounds of the rural sections, County Farm Agent William F. Greenawalt, of Doylestown, has found orchardists are hoping the arrival of warm weather will be delayed several weeks because they feel the advent of warm weather too soon will cause the buds on the fruit trees to develop too rapidly, and that later a killing frost will destroy the buds.

This is what happened last year, said Mr. Greenawalt. The very warm weather early in the season forced the buds, and later in the season the buds were destroyed with the result there was a shortage of apples and peaches.

Although the warm weather the past week forced the buds to some extent, said Mr. Greenawalt, there is no danger a killing frost later in the season will destroy them. The buds, it was said, have about entered the delayed dormant stage, and orchardists have been spraying their orchards where ground conditions permit them to get on with their heavy spray equipment.

Had there been no rain last Friday and Sunday night, the ground would have been in condition for plowing oats. Some of the truckers in the lower part of the county have plowed their ground, and have planted beets and spinach.

According to the count of the European corn borer larvae in the corn stalks last fall, the infestation of the borer this season will be quite heavy, said Mr. Greenawalt. All fodder and stalks remaining on the field during the winter, added

WHAT CIO DIDN'T SEE

The CIO has made a report on conditions inside Russia. At a time when accredited newspapermen have found it virtually impossible to cover events beyond the "iron curtain" in Eastern Europe, eleven CIO "visiting firemen" were taken on a tour of industrial plants, and given full opportunity to discuss Russian affairs with labor leaders and government officials.

The result is an interesting document. It is important for what it says, and still more so for what it omits.

The CIO went to Russia to see, and it saw much. Likewise, there was much it didn't see—or at least which is not mentioned in its lengthy "report."

The impression conveyed by the report is that of a lively and enterprising land, in which unionism has been carried to its logical extreme.

The emphasis of the report is on the "security" which Russian labor enjoys. The cradle-to-grave government aid, the "everyone has a right to a job" philosophy, the nationalized medicine programs, the government control of industrial plants and operations, and many other recent developments of the Communist ideology—all these are described in detail and in the most eulogistic terms.

This is to be expected, for the CIO—although it sometimes finds it expedient to deny the John L. Lewis charge that it is dominated by Communists—is openly backing similar programs for the United States, and has maneuvered President Truman into running interference for it in its effort to rebuild the American system into an imitation of what is happening under Premier Stalin.

Since the report is pure propaganda for the Communist idea, it is not surprising that the emphasis is on the brighter side, and that all disturbing factors are either omitted or played down.

SCOUTS GIVE "SHIRTS OFF THEIR BACKS"

Campaign Will Aid Boys Throughout World To Take Up Scouting

PLAN SPRING EVENTS

The "shirts off your back" campaign, which is being carried out all over America by the Boy Scouts, will wind up in Bucks County during the month of March. Troops and packs from all parts of the county are sending inventories of the materials which they have secured. As soon as inventories have been completed, places will be designated in the districts and uniforms and equipment will then be moved to a central place for packing. Through the efforts of the scouts and cubs in this campaign, many boys throughout the world will have the opportunity to once again take up the work of scouting.

S. A. Miller, of Langhorne, chairman of the council's training committee, has announced that an outdoor basic training course for all scouts will be conducted at Camp Ockanickon on March 23rd and 24th. Courses have been conducted in the districts of the council throughout the winter months, and the basic outdoor course will be the conclusion of these courses and in some instances will be the beginning of additional training for men of the council. The course will include training on the information which leaders must know in advancing scouts in their second and first class tests. It is expected that a large group will take part in this course. The staff conducting the course will consist of S. A. Miller, Langhorne; William C. Christ, Langhorne; and C. M. Barnard.

FOR BETTER BREAKFASTS

Perhaps a compromise can be worked out that will avoid a conflict between President Truman's plan to have the public eat less, and the proposal of the Indiana State Medical Association that people should eat more.

The association's publicity bureau has directed attention to breakfast, without any mention of brunch, lunch, supper, dinner or a midnight snack. The medical men urge a real breakfast and that is possible, of course, without eating too much at other meals or between them.

"For a good start on the day," said a medical association bulletin, "everyone should have some fruit—preferably citrus—a whole-grain cereal, enriched bread, an egg and milk." This is based on adequate nutritional requirements. The body needs to be fortified with food, after a fast, and a good breakfast is what the doctor ordered.

There are Americans who have never forsaken the ancient custom of making breakfast one of the principal meals of the day, a time to feature steak and fried potatoes, a stack of wheat cakes drowned in maple syrup, plenty of eggs and other foods that a hungry person enjoys. The Hoosier medical association does not advocate that sort of breakfast, but it does believe there is a common-sense position between too much food and the other custom of drinking a little black coffee and expecting it to provide the inspiration and energy for a real morning's work.

BUREAUCRATIC RELUCTANCE

Action by the OPA revising prices on men's suits with the announced object of permitting the release of thousands of these items without losses emphasizes the reluctance with which government control functions.

The government bureau announced that "many inequities and looseness of pricing" had crept into the control structure since 1943. To which butter consumers, among others, will add a fervent "amen." For some time an estimated 700,000 suits have been held back because to have marketed them at the old prices would have entailed a loss. During that time returning veterans have been combing the stores for civilian clothes, often in vain.

Why the OPA could not have made this adjustment much earlier and relaxed the tightness of supply is a mystery. The only possible explanation is that procrastination generally enters into all the activities of a government bureau. Policy makers, as they call themselves, in Washington couldn't agree. While they were quarreling, the public did without the goods that would have been available had business been permitted to function in the American time-tested way of doing things.

It is to be hoped the OPA can crack some more bottlenecks through which goods are trickling to consumers when they might be coming in a flow. But perhaps that is too much to hope for, government control being what it is.

Hints that all is not well in the Russian internal economy, and that a case against Communism might be found there far more convincing than the evidence for Communism, do come to the surface in the report.

Speaking of one of the major industries, where the CIO type of labor movement has received full expression, the report observes: "the production might be considered low." After going to much length to show how well paid are the Russian workers ("the workers' actual take-home pay remains about the same as during the war") the report admits that "it is difficult to make any exact appraisal of the purchasing power of Soviet wages."

The "incentive" system of wages, restored in Russia as a war expedient and considered by many as a complete abandonment of the ideology of Communism, is referred to in several places. Most workers are paid by the piece, with large bonuses for extra production. Other important distinctions exist between various groups, including differences in both the amounts and the prices at which they may buy rationed goods.

The authors of the report conceded one unhappy fact in a few significant words: the Russian "standard of living is low compared with American standards."

The most amazing omission from the report, however, considering that the CIO representatives went to Russia to study labor conditions, is any reference to the notorious slave-labor pool upon which the Russian economy is built.

The economic factors are quite simple. Russian workers are receiving more, in the way of benefits, abnormally high wages, "security benefits," etc., than their production can pay for. The money has to come from somewhere. Between the exorbitant costs of production and the terrific overhead of the bureaucratic system there (it is said that 20,000,000 persons are being supported through government jobs), Russia long ago was forced to find some outside means of keeping its economy going.

This is the explanation, of course, for the recent aggressions of Russia; the country's internal economy is burning itself out, and fresh fuel has to be obtained from outside the Russian borders. Hence the takeover of Poland and all other East European nations from the Baltic to the Balkans; the stealing of everything moveable from Eastern Germany and Manchuria; and the present drive towards the Near-East oil fields.

But there is a large body of labor in Russia which is being ruthlessly exploited to keep the system in operation—to help pay for the "social security" which the CIO so admires.

The size of this labor pool cannot be stated definitely. Russia has suppressed all figures which would give a clue, and has tried to keep the subject from being discussed abroad. Nevertheless, the figure is appallingly large. Included among the slaves are all of the thousands of "political prisoners," who are at the bottom of the heap, as well as many varieties of habitual criminals and others who have run afoul of the law.

A recent book on Russia, written by an outstanding expert (David J. Dallin's "The Real Soviet Russia," Yale University Press, 1944), cites some appalling accounts of the conditions under which the labor gangs work—stories from such figures as Quentin Reynolds and Wendell Willkie. After listing various estimates of the total of slave labor, most of them ranging to 20,000,000 or so, Dallin concludes:

"The number of people subject to forced labor is not less and is probably greater than the total number of industrial workers at liberty in Russia."

As to the condition under which this "other half" of Russian labor works, here are some words from Quentin Reynolds:

"We passed one of the big concentration camps reserved for political prisoners. Beyond that we saw a long line of them working on a new road. There were about 800 of them. . . . On their faces there was no sign of hope. . . . Steel and I looked at each other and winced. . . . We winced, I think, because these 800 prisoners were women."

The civilization which the CIO admires so much that it wishes to see it copied in free America is one which is old in history—and one which most modern groups thought was safely outmoded; a system in which, as in the Old South, and in Rome and Greece, a privileged class enjoyed what they termed "democracy," and lived on the fruits of the toil of great numbers of slaves.

Perhaps on a subsequent visit, the CIO will devote a trifle of its interest in Russian working conditions to that other and perhaps even larger body of workers than those it describes in its current report; and will report back to America about what it thinks of Russia's exploitation of slaves.

A Summary of The News

they returned home, and expressed the hope they would go back. Further appeals were made to Russia at the UNRRA Council meeting to throw her resources into the pool battling world famine. All possible aid has been promised to India by President Truman but there is only enough food available to supply a twelve-ounce daily ration. Hungry Germans attacked provision shops in Hamburg. American farmers plan crops as large as those in wartime to help meet the world shortage. Hearings on the proposed loan to Britain were ended with only three opposition witnesses before the Senate committee. Secretaries Patterson and Forrestal asked Congress to increase pay of all service ranks 20 per cent to meet increased living costs and attract qualified technicians. Soft coal operators were reported convinced that 400,000 miners would strike on April 1 and the Westinghouse situation clouded when the workers rejected the company wage offer. Under-Secretary of Commerce Schindler suggested a "basic irreducible minimum" yearly wage and profit-sharing for workers as the only realistic incentive to increased production. HOME FOR FEW WEEKS Norman Davis, C. K. 1/c, is spending several weeks with his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. James Johnson, Clymer street. On May 2nd he will report at Mare Island, Cal., submarine base. Many a big deal has been made possible through a small want ad.

states where it had for three generations been the basic Republican asset. Mr. James A. Farley, who helped conceive and execute the scheme, asserts that it could not have been done without Mrs. Roosevelt. He says she was almost as effective as the WPA under Mr. Harry Hopkins.

NO WHITE person since Abraham Lincoln has had as large a following or half the influence among the Negroes. In addition, she is greatly beloved by the CIO, of which she is a member, and extremely popular with all the crackpot groups. Of course, the Republicans take a different view of Mrs. Roosevelt's candidatorial strength. Conceding her popularity among the Negroes and the radicals, they insist her nomination would solidify the conservative forces behind her opponent as they have not been before. Moreover, they say, Mrs. Roosevelt is disliked by more persons than like her; that the Republican organization would work harder to defeat her than any other; that many more Republicans up State would come out to vote against her than have ever been out before; that any good man could beat her; that New York—and the nation—are fed up with Roosevelts, want no more of them, male or female, for a long time.

NEVERTHELESS, it would be an interesting contest, and the result would be illuminating. Though aware of what goes on, Mrs. Roosevelt has said nothing. Those who know her well say she would adore being in the Senate. They think she will eagerly enter the field if she gets organization encouragement and a satisfactory setup can be arranged so that she will seem to be very dignified. It must seem to be put up to her as a duty. It must appear that she yields only because of the opportunity for "service" and in response to a demand. All of this can be arranged easily enough. It has been before and it can be again.

ALSO, Mrs. Roosevelt is a rich woman. No one knows accurately how much money she made in the 13 years she was in the White House and her husband was President. But it would certainly total more than half a million. This, with her inheritance, puts her fortune well above the million mark. With a rent-free and tax-free home at Hyde Park, she continues to collect large sums annually by writing and lecturing. Thus, she easily could finance her own campaign. But she won't. Roosevelts do not spend their own money that way.

The "Queen Mary" was delayed on the journey to America. A rough voyage was experienced, and further delay was due to necessity of flying oxygen to the ship in a vain attempt to save the life of a newborn baby.

More than 2,000 "war brides" made the journey on the ship, among them a friend of Mrs. D'Am-brosia, whose future home is in Texas.

BE SLIM, BUT NOT TOO THIN

Ethel Smith, well-known soprano, keeps regular hours.

By Helen Follett

Ever and anon, fashions in women change. The silhouette is supposed to conform to the kind of duds it carries. We're hearing now about the doll waist which, in yesteryears when Grannie was a little girl, was referred to as the wasp waist, which is not a term that is pleasing to the ear. What woman wanted to look waspy? The answer: all of them.

Well, the thin girl can qualify for compression of the human equator, though if she hasn't pleasing curves above and below the belt line she won't have joy when she contemplates the reflection in the mirror. She must be a bit busty, and must be slightly hippy; otherwise she belongs to the asparagus type.

Proper Food

What must be done for this poor dear? She must partake of good food that not only creates energy but builds adipose tissue. The intake of starch, sugar and fats must be increased. Protein does repair work; and, as Miss Skinny usually tears around at a gallop, she must include one serving of meat each day. With every meal she should down a glass of milk. A bowl of crackers and milk at bedtime will help to put fat on her ribs.

Thin girls get that way because they are finicky eaters, as a rule. They like pickles and green salads, hate cereals. In time they may suffer from malnutrition that brings along a trail of beauty griefs.

Plenty of Sleep

Plenty of sleep is necessary. Eight hours are the rule but the slender babies can do well with nine. Exercise should be in the open air, but moderate.

Learn to relax, if you are under weight. Don't keep going until you are exhausted. If you do that, your nervous system will suffer and, as the years come along, you will be dismayed to find that you have premature wrinkles. A certain amount of fat-building food must be included in the diet if facial tissues are not to fall into a state of collapse.

FORESEES BIG SALES FOR BRISTOL FURS

American Market Expected To Absorb 5,000,000 Mouton Skins Annually

FOR "SECOND COATS"

The American market will absorb about five million mouton skins annually by 1947, providing that skin processors can obtain sufficient numbers of skins to meet their production schedules, according to Mottly Eltington, president of Mottly Eltington, Inc., world's largest processors, who estimates that by next year American women will be willing to purchase at least one million mouton coats. Eltington bases his estimate of the potential mouton market on the belief that women who own luxury furs will also want the highly-durable mouton coat for a "second coat," and that, in addition to the luxury market, there exists large numbers of women who want beautiful, wearable fur coats at low cost.

Eltington also estimates that if he can secure the necessary quantities of skins, about half of the coats for this huge market will be made of "Bonmouton," Eltington-dyed lamb-skin. The current output of Bonmouton is being distributed among some forty or fifty coat manufacturers at the present time, and as Bonmouton production increases additional manufacturers will be added.

Bonmouton is now being mass-produced at four Eltington plants in Easton, Danville and Bristol, and in the Bronx. If skins are available, Eltington plans production of upwards of 2,500,000 Bonmouton skins yearly by 1947.

The potential retail market for mouton fur far exceeds past sales for any other single type of fur, including coney (rabbit) which, Eltington notes, once supplied some 600,000 coats a year. An additional market for mouton will be found, Eltington believes, in sportswear, in accessories, in children's clothing and in cloth coat linings and trimmings.

Eltington "Bonmouton," the most recent development in processed lamb-skin, is a warm, highly-durable fur. Skins have been produced which are as fine and soft as nutria. A plastic finish renders it completely waterproof, a fact which makes it ideal for all-around, all-weather garments.

EGGS EXCELLENT TO SERVE FAMILY AT ANY OF MEALS

By Sara Jane Reish (Assistant Home Economics Representative)

Every person can have an egg a day for good health when eggs are plentiful and inexpensive. Eggs are not limited to breakfast but lend themselves to other meals of the day and may be served as a main dish, in salads, or in desserts.

In cooking eggs, low temperatures are necessary for best results. High temperatures make the white of egg tough. Custards will curdle if cooked too long or at too high a temperature.

Soft cooked, scrambled, poached, or fried eggs are popular for breakfast while eggs prepared in more elaborate ways are often used for dinner or supper. If the family is prompt for meals, try serving an omelet. Chopped parsley, chopped cooked bacon, grated cheese, minced cooked ham, or jelly may be sprinkled or spread over the omelet just before folding it. Another way to vary an omelet is to pour creamed mushroom sauce, creamed peas or asparagus, or tomato sauce over it on the serving platter.

Custards are good desserts when the family includes young children as well as adults. Soft custard may be served over fruit, cake crumbs, prune whip, or with meringue, such as floating island. Make baked custards plain or caramelize sugar and add to the bottom of each buttered custard cup. Gelatin desserts in which beaten egg whites have been folded appeal to the appetite. To increase food value of bread puddings, rice, and tapioca, a whole egg or several yolks may be added to them.

Where there are infants who eat just egg yolks, homemakers often find it difficult to use the whites. These may be used in angel food cake, meringues which may be served with soft custard, cake frosting, fruit whips, or whipped into gelatin desserts.

WHITE ACCENTS ON NEW FROCKS SHOULD BE QUITE "SNOWY"

By Sara Jane Reish (Assistant Home Economics Representative)

The crisp white lingerie frills and pleatings that adorn wool dresses for late winter and spring must be kept immaculate. Sometimes they are tacked on so that their removal for laundering is easy. If they are stitched firmly in place, they must be carefully detached and as carefully put back again. Baste any pleats or folds together before washing. Then rub specially soiled spots with thick suds. To insure snowiness, build up a two to three inch suds for the washing, adding bluing flakes with the soap flakes. Bluing automatically as you wash in this way not only makes sure of immaculate whiteness but insures against bluing streaks and by-passes the need for a separate bluing job. Rinse the trimmings in the two clear waters required for expert laundering. Then starch them. They will be easier to iron if you add a specially prepared wax-like product to the starch to keep the iron from pulling and sticking. Pat your bits of trimming into shape making sure that every pleat and fold is in order. Then pull out the bastings before ironing so that there will be no marks of thread and needle. The wax-like product in the starch helps keep clothes clean longer, too, for it insures a satiny, dirt-resistant finish.

TRICK OF TRADE

LONDON—(INS)—Four thieves found a new use for blackout curtains. They put the curtains over office windows while they burned a safe open and stole $4,000. Although it took roughly two hours to open the safe with oxyacetylene apparatus, the blackout curtains allowed them to work undisturbed. The site they robbed was the Winchmore Hill, London, office of the Lea Valley Demolition Company.

By the Rev. T. Kohlmeier
Pastor
St. Luke's Lutheran Church

Lord God, heavenly Father, on this first day of Spring we look about us and see the wonders of Thy creative power in the shooting forth of new life after the cold and death of Winter. May it remind us of Thy ability to recreate new life in our naturally dead beings in this that being born again we become new creatures by faith in Jesus Christ Thy Son. May the new life in nature also assure us of the resurrection of our own bodies from the grave when Christ shall come again to judge the quick and the dead on the last day. In Jesus' Name. Amen.

BERN (INS)—A recent report by a trade journal, "The Swiss Tobacco News," has claimed that the Swiss cigarette trade is being blighted by American personnel who are said to be selling more than 7,000,000 cigarettes per month.

The trade paper claims to have completed a survey among 50 Americans on furlough in Switzerland which revealed that the soldiers brought 24,000 tax-free post exchange cigarettes into the country, of which they sold approximately 200 apiece.

Breaks Old High Three Standard With a Score of 2880

Rohm & Haas held their four game lead by taking two of three games from O'Boyle's. In doing so they set a new high single and high three mark for the second half. They rolled a 1049 single and a three game series of 2883. Carlen, Hirsch and Stewart led the chemical workers attack with series of 616, 613 and 594 respectively.

Burlington with a 2880 series also broke the old high three standard. By winning all three from Barton's Service they pulled up into a tie for second place. Sholl with a 621 series was high man for the Jerseyites.

Fairweather's Cafe by winning two out of three from Rodgers are also tied for second place. Robinson led the Cafe team with a 599 series while Warner was high man for the losers with a 570 series.

Fathers Set Date For Show; View Bldg. Plans

WALTER P. Snyder, superintendent of Bristol schools, spoke upon the preliminary plans of the proposed new high school building last evening. Mr. Snyder addressed the Fathers' Association and exhibited architects plans and a perspective drawing of the new building.

The plans which were exhibited are entirely preliminary and for this reason too much of the detail is not drawn into it. Mr. Snyder also spoke of the conferences being held between the Bristol borough school board and the Bristol township school board, at which plans for a consolidated high school building are being discussed. No definite action has been reached at these meetings, and Mr. Snyder made it plain that he had no idea what would be the ultimate outcome.

The plans exhibited show an attractive building and one which would be very flexible.

It was announced that the "Fathers' Varieties" are scheduled for April 4th, and that auditions will be held one week previous. It was also stated that a record playing machine has been obtained for the Jefferson avenue building, and "black-out" curtains are to be secured for the auditorium of Wood street school.

The balance of the evenings program was devoted to moving pictures shown by Joseph Ehrenreich. Refreshments were served.

Card Players Fill 18 Tables at Local Party

Catholic Daughters of America held a card party last evening in the K. of C. Home. Mrs. Maurice Roche and Mrs. Joseph W. Amison were in charge. Eighteen tables of players were arranged for bridge and pinochle players. Fine prizes were awarded.

High scores in bridge were won by: Mary Brill, 4720; Miss Hannah Boyle, 2230. Pinochle: Mrs. Robert Patterson, 837; Mrs. M. Elliott, 832; E. Logue, 776; Miss Marie Roche, 776; Mrs. J. R. Cullen, 768. Refreshments were served.

WANT CARDS RETURNED

All war veterans of the fifth ward are requested to return postal cards sent to them by the "Fifth Ward Committee of Good Will for Veterans of World War II," thus notifying the committee whether they plan to attend the banquet to be held in their honor on April 14th. Cards must be returned by March 25th.

DINNER PARTY

EDGELY, Mar. 21—Mr. and Mrs. Harold Bergmann entertained on Sunday at a dinner party. Table decorations were in keeping with St. Patrick's day, and guests included: Miss Phyllis Krys, Morrisville; Miles Ruch, Germantown; Mr. and Mrs. Harold Bergmann, 2d, and son Harold, 3d, Philadelphia; and Edward Bergmann, Edgely.

DESSERT CARD PARTY

A dessert card party sponsored by the "Sewing Bee" of the Needlework Guild was held yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. L. J. Bevan, Dorrance street. Games played were bridge, pinochle and Chinese checkers, and prizes were given the winners.

ELK LEADER RECITES LONG SERVICE RECORD

J. H. McMackin, Exalted Ruler of 970, Tells of Work Done by Order

78TH ANNIVERSARY

Joseph Harold McMackin, exalted ruler of Bristol Lodge, 970, Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks, today disclosed some surprising facts and figures covering the magnificent work done by the order since its founding.

On February 16, 1946, all of the 1422 Elk lodges throughout the United States observed the 78th anniversary of the founding of the order, led by New York Lodge, No. 1, always referred to as the "Mother Lodge".

Started in 1863 by a handful of kindhearted New York actors, "to promote the well being of their fellow man," the Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks has become a vast, nationwide welfare organization of more than 750,000 members, a 200,000 increase since Pearl Harbor. It has no commercial or religious angles and no interest in politics.

The Elks' War Commission, under the chairmanship of Past Grand Exalted Ruler James R. Nicholson, of New York City, and the 1422 subordinate Elk lodges throughout the country have spent prodigious effort and more than $3,500,000 in cash to perform 14 definite and vital jobs for the armed forces during World War II. Since the founding of the order, the Elks have contributed more than $79,000,000 to the public welfare. In hundreds of American towns and cities the Elks' clubhouse is the center of the town's social activity.

In an intensified program of rehabilitation which will be continued indefinitely wherever servicemen are hospitalized, the Elks are bringing cheer and comfort to the sick and wounded in more than 300 hospitals in 42 states. The needs and their fulfillment vary but the main features usually are entertainments and shows, refreshments, radio sets, phonographs, musical instruments, bed clippers (150,000 pairs to date), cigarettes, books, letter writing, Christmas packages, day-long fishing trips, scenic tours and other timely diversions. The entire membership has now become engaged in a country-wide campaign to help returning veterans in the present housing crisis. A million books for the Merchant Marine, the recruitment of thousands of Navy Sea Bees, Army Engineers, Air Cadets and Nurses, and the rehabilitation of 480 Jap-imprisoned members of the Manila and Guam lodges have been other Elk war benevolences.

The Elks have had 80,000 members in the armed forces and every Elk lodge is busy rehabilitating and finding jobs for those Elk veterans who need such help. The Elks have served all U. S. and Allied service personnel in the U. S. with entertainment, food and lodging through 155 Fraternal Centers near military establishments in 37 states. Every Elk lodge in the country maintains open house at all times for the U. S. and Allied armed forces. Hundreds of intelligent young boys and girls have won Elk scholarships in the country's various universities.

Tempting Ways To Serve Canned Meat Products

A trip to the grocery store is fun, these days! On almost every visit, we find on the shelves some item that we haven't seen for a long time, an old friend returned to help us with our meal planning. There are some new products, too—and there are going to be many more of these. It will pay homemakers to be on the watch for them, comments Jessie Alice (Clino, home economist.

Looking at the canned meat section, one is likely to find any or all of the following items: canned luncheon meat (there are many excellent brands), spiced ham, chopped ham, frankfurters in jars, small cans of Vienna sausages, corned beef hash, chili con carne, deviled ham, and other spreads, potted meats, and canned tongue. Dried beef in jars is available in some localities, and there are still others which we have not mentioned.

The clever housewife will make use of these items, both for the convenience they offer and to give added variety to her family meals. Of course, they are all handy items for the emergency shelf; but they should not be relegated to that use alone, for each item will provide a variety of tempting, economical main dishes. Everyone is familiar with the delicious, spicy flavor of canned luncheon meat sliced cold or used in sandwiches—but how many homemakers serve it hot? As a matter of fact, these meats are even more savory and interesting when heated in various ways. Try broiling or panbroiling slices of luncheon loaf, and serving it with scrambled eggs, waffles or pancakes, or in a mixed grill. Heat the slices in brown meat gravy, vegetable gravy, or a barbecue sauce. Or dice the loaf and add to cream sauce; serve on chow mein noodles, boiled rice, or roasted corn bread.

Put slices of luncheon loaf on top of vegetable casseroles—scalloped potatoes and onions, scalloped corn with green pepper, cauliflower and green beans au gratin, or a dish of baked beans with tomatoes. Another possibility is to dice the meat loaf or cut in narrow strips, and combine it with the vegetables in the casserole. Put a crust on top—and you have a very delectable meat pie!

The meat loaf need not always be sliced or cut in cubes. Try heating it, whole, in the oven. It may be covered with a paste of brown sugar and fruit juice before baking, and studded with whole cloves. Serve it whole on a platter, with sweet potatoes and baked peaches or apricots.

Canned corned beef hash is a tasty, well-seasoned dish just as it comes from the can; all it needs is to be browned in a frying-pan or in the oven. A favorite way to serve it is with a poached egg on top.

For variety, try hashburgers! First, chill the hash; then remove both ends of the can, and press the contents out in a solid roll. Slice about 1/2-inch thick. Pan-broil the patties and serve in toasted buns, with chili sauce or pickle relish, if desired. One more idea for this time is to moisten the hash with thin cream or mayonnaise, and use it as a filling for hot grilled sandwiches. They're truly elegant!

Menu For Spring
It's good timing to make your spring menus colorful and zesty in flavor. On one of those first balmy evenings—serve cold sliced ham, creamed new potatoes with

CAN'T KEEP GRANDMA IN HER CHAIR

She's as Lively as a Youngster—
Now her Backache is better

Many sufferers relieve nagging backache quickly, once they discover that the real cause of their trouble may be tired kidneys. The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking the excess acids and waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.

When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headache and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

What's New at Metropolitan?

THERE IS MUCH good news for policyholders in the 1945 record of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company.

Payments to policyholders and their beneficiaries reached a new all-time high of $623,000,000. Mortality among policyholders, excluding war deaths, was the lowest on record. The yield on the Company's investments followed the general trend and declined somewhat. The Company had asset gains which made it possible to revise policy and annuity reserves so as to reflect lower interest earnings. Scales of dividends to policyholders were maintained, and in some cases slightly increased.

Unassigned surplus funds at the year end amounted to $448,600,000. In addition the Company had special surplus funds of $109,400,000, of which $95,100,000 represented a special reserve for possible loss or fluctuation in the value of investments and $14,300,000 a Group Insurance reserve for epidemics, etc. These funds represent an extra cushion of safety for policyholders.

In its report to policyholders for 1945, Metropolitan provides answers to many of the questions a policyholder would be likely to ask if he could make a personal visit to the Company. Among questions answered, for example, are . . .

Were there many extra claim payments last year due to the war?

Would longer life for policyholders reduce the cost of Life Insurance?

In what types of investments did the Company put its money?

What does the Company advise about National Service Life Insurance?

In addition to answering these and many other questions, the report gives a financial summary of the Company's operations during 1945. Whether or not you are a policyholder, you will find this report interesting and informative. To get a copy, just write and ask for the Company's annual report entitled, "What's New At Metropolitan?"

DOYLESTOWN C. OF C. AWARD IS ANNOUNCED

George C. Butler, Former Army Captain, is The Recipient

FOR "INTENSE ZEAL"

DOYLESTOWN, Mar. 21 — The 1945 Doylestown Chamber of Commerce Award to the citizen who did the most good for the Borough during that year, was presented to George Calvin Butler, Captain, U. S. Infantry, E. O. Retired.

"Cap" Butler, known by everyone who is interested in the welfare of the community, and by every service and ex-service man and woman who left this community, was the unanimous choice of a committee of five who were named to select the recipient of the honor. None of the committee members were members of the Chamber of Commerce.

The presentation was made by Cleveland Hilson, president of the Chamber, at the annual dinner meeting held at the Bucks County Inn, an outstanding affair that was attended by 130 of the leading business men of this community.

Captain Butler, an outstanding member of both the American Legion and the Veterans of Foreign Wars, was present at the dinner, but when his name was announced as the winner of the 1945 award, and when he was asked to say a few words, he simply replied, "how can I."

In business life, Captain Butler is affiliated with the Pennsylvania State Highway Department offices in Doylestown.

The citation inscribed on the award is as follows:

"... For his intense zeal and tireless effort in 1945 in the interests of the men and women from Doylestown in the Armed Services of the United States while at war with the Axis Powers. ... Although officially chairman of the servicemen's committee of the Doylestown Community Service Council, he carried on, practically single-handed, a personal correspondence with the aforesaid service men and women, sending them weekly letters with newspaper and magazine clippings enclosed and other printed matter of interest to them, and on Easter, Independence Day and Christmas he prepared and sent appropriate greeting cards and folders. ... He secured the information, edited and distributed a directory with the names and service addresses of all these same service men and women, enabling them to locate each other at points all over the world. ... By his constant correspondence with these men and women he made them feel the interest that their home-town had in them and so enabled them to maintain a pride in that town. ... Through the acquaintances and companions of these same service people, he caused the name of Doylestown to be known to more strangers from all parts of the United States than could have been accomplished by any other means."

Completing the most successful year in the history of the Chamber, with a membership that has been increased from 67 to 107—through the efforts of Albert B. Patton, Robert W. Robinson and Charles L. Goodman—the annual election resulted in the re-election of most of those who have made the Chamber worthwhile.

President Hilson was re-elected as president, and Kenneth A. Swanson was re-elected first vice-president. A new second vice-president is R. Stanley Osborne. As secretary, Robert W. Robinson was re-elected, as was Charles L. Goodman as treasurer. One new member of the board of directors is James D. Rufe. Others re-elected include Stanley W. Bowers, Louis Grossman and Alfred B. Patton.

Selected as the 100th member of the Chamber to be added to membership, Clayton Lewis was presented with a year's free membership, the presentation being made by Alfred B. Patton.

Representing the Pennsylvania State Chamber of Commerce, Earl D. Bacon, of Harrisburg, complimented the Doylestown Chamber of its progress of the past year. He also told the members and their guests that "If you folks here in Doylestown don't take the leadership and sell your own town, assistance from the State Chamber or any other group will be of no value."

"A Chamber of Commerce is a machine, but it needs manpower to function properly," Bacon declared. "Too few business men realize that an active Chamber is very important and vital to every community and to every worthwhile business."

In his annual report for 1945, President Hilson said that "the year

1945 has not been so much a year of accomplishment as it has been a year of construction in which we have been learning that a Chamber is first and foremost a business organization, not a social gathering."

"We are learning that a Chamber of Commerce is a body to first know the community and its needs and then proceed to supply those needs," he continued.

The Chamber president announced the statement of policy containing three planks as adopted by the Chamber during the year. They are:

(a) That the Chamber will have no representative or delegate on general or special committees of any organization not an integral part of the Chamber.

(b) That the Chamber will not contribute from its treasury any monies to any fund, collection or support of any organization not a part of the Chamber nor in which it is not participating in its activities.

(c) That the Chamber will not solicit funds or contributions of any nature nor conduct any drive for such a purpose for the benefit of the Chamber or for any other organization except as may be conducted by the Retail Dealers Committee of the Chamber under the name of that committee and for such purpose as they may elect.

HERE'S A "Valve AND Carbon Job" ON A BIG SCALE

TURBO GENERATORS are a lot like your family automobile which requires frequent check-ups to keep sensitive parts working smoothly.

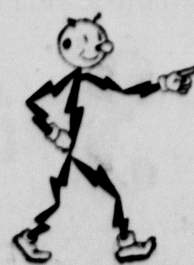

But unlike work on the family auto, a generator check-up is a major operation. Cleaning and adjusting the 165,000-kilowatt generator at Philadelphia Electric's Richmond Station, for instance, requires more than two weeks with thirty to forty men working full time.

That gives some idea of the kind of problem your neighbors who operate Philadelphia Electric face in keeping the generators—along with other equipment—going in all our stations, so that you can be sure electricity will flash into action every time you snap the switch, night or day.

But this constant check on equipment is only part of the job P. E. carries on. Our research laboratories and field experimenters are constantly seeking better materials and better methods. Our planning engineers are looking as far as five years ahead to predict the needs of each neighborhood. As a result of this attention to every detail, no matter how small, P. E. was able to serve every wartime industry in this five-county area without a single job having been delayed because of a lack of electricity. This same attention to detail will be continued without let-up to assure more jobs and better living in the peacetime years ahead.

DO YOU KNOW if there is any artistic talent in your family? You never can tell! There's a delightful way to find out. You'll never regret the experiment of introducing artist's materials into your household! Besides, you may discover talent in yourself! Who knows? The Snellenburg Art Supply Dept. will advise you, whether you are amateur or, perhaps, professional. Prices are varied, but, for example, prepared canvases by the yard or stretched are priced at $1.39 and $2.09, folding easels at $2.20 to $4.49, school easels $2.95 to $4.95, children's easels $2.69 to $2.19. (4th fl.)

P.S. Do send clippings with mail orders when you can! Phone free (5c, 10c, and 15c out-of-town calls only). Penna.—ENT. 10160; Jersey—WX-1150. Shop located Market, 11th to 12th Sts., Phila.—through to 1125-29 Chestnut St. Be hearin' from you! Faithfully, FAITH.

SPRING SUITS, an entire, delightful group, are to be had in the Snellenburg Women's and Misses' Suit Dept. at the satisfactory price of $35. Sizes run from 10 to 20, 31½ to 41½. Materials are all 100% wool, in twill, diagonal, and novelty weaves. You will find both cardigan and classic collar models, winged and tailored sleeves, belted and unbelted jackets. Not only are there blacks and navies but there is a regular garden riot of fashionable spring colors. (2nd fl.)

INSTEAD OF SILVER plate, many fashionable young matrons are using artistically designed aluminum ware, and brides are requesting it. This ware is at its most attractive in a Snellenburg collection of serving, sandwich, and bread trays; fruit and salad bowls; candy dishes, table covered butter dishes. Prices range from $1.50 to $8.95. This particular collection is wrought of aluminum of durable weight. The designs are obviously created by real artists. I am particularly intrigued by the handsome trays centered with Godey print design porcelain plates, priced at $5.95. Bowls similarly centered are priced at $5.95 and $7.95. By the way, aluminum ware has also become popular for silver anniversary gifting! (1st fl.)

WELCOME GIFTS, indeed, are mirrors for the homes of 1946 brides. In this age of gay and inspirational furnishings, a house can hardly have too many. But they should be of good plate glass, and frames, if any, of excellent design. Just now the Snellenburg Mirror Dept. has an unusually fine group of large mirrors—26 x 34 inches, to be exact. These are large enough to reflect a generous part of any room and to reflect and increase light. The size is suitable for placing over buffets, sofas, mantels, tables, etc. Hand some, classic design, gilt frames add the final glint which interior decorators approve. Designs blend well with either 18th Century furniture or with pieces more modern. Only $14.95. (4th fl.)

HER NEW SHOES are in the Snellenburg Shoe Dept.—children's section! They're clever little center-buckle pumps in patent or white, and they're just in time for spring Sunday best or Easter itself. These pretty shoes are smart, dressy, and, my, we're glad they're back! Sizes 8½ to 12 are priced at $4.25; sizes 12½ to 13 cost $4.45 a pair. (1st fl.)

CROWS MARCH ON TO NEW HEIGHTS; WRECK THE WRECKS

Establish New High Record For The Bowling League, 3-0

DUCKS BEAT RANGERS

Night Raiders Pull Up Tie With Tappers for the Third Place

The Crows team dominated the Bristol bowling alleys, Thursday evening, as they marched on to new heights. They wrecked the Rambling Wrecks 3-0 and established all new high records for the league. In their second game they beat out the Wrecks nifty 911 game with the new high team single of 960. This was a tough break for the Wrecks. Johnny Doe and Escher both had two hundred games but Stratton's 209 and Lackie's new individual high single 267 really decided the game. The Crows, inspired by this, went on to get a new team high three series for the league with the three-game total 2671. Vince Stratton led the Crows to their sweeping victory with his high 607 series—nice bowling. Johnny Doe with a 558 series was high man for the Wrecks.

The Ruptured Ducks beat out the Rangers 2-1. Wallerick led the Ducks with a 554 series and a 209 game. Jack Fraser was high man for the Rangers with a 570 series and a 215 game. This leaves the Rangers in second place, two games from the league-leading Crows.

The Night Raiders raided the Tappers and pulled up tie with them for third slot as they won 2-1. Armand Clotti led the way for the Raiders with a 536 series while W. Warner had a 229 game. Georgie Pollack was high man for the Tappers with his 515.

 From where I sit ... by Joe Marsh
Shaking Heads and Human Liberties
It's a funny thing. Now that the war's over, there's a lot of head-shaking in our town. People saying: "What's the younger generation coming to?" "How can we end these strikes?" "The country's going to the dogs!" "There ought to be a law!" etc.
But when the younger generation was walloping the Axis "supermen"—and labor was doing the most colossal job in history—you never heard a murmur. But now that we're back to our traditional life of personal liberty, just see how the heads begin to shake again.
I guess there'll always be head-shakers—folks who feel "there ought to be a law"—who believe that the best form of regulation is suppression, whether it's applied to beer or baseball.
But from where I sit, America's done pretty well with the idea of personal choice and individual liberty. I guess that's the way Americans are made.
